

Sowing Empire: Landscape and Colonization

By Jill H. Casid

University of Minnesota Press, United States, 2005. Paperback. Book Condition: New. New.. 251 x 178 mm. Language: English . Brand New Book. Planting and transplanting, seeding and reshaping landscaping practices that emerged in the eighteenth century are inextricable from the contested terrain of empire within which they operated. From the plantations of the nabobs to the island gardens of narrative fiction, from William Beckford's estate at Fonthill to Marie Antoinette's ornamented farm, Sowing Empire considers imperial relandscaping its patriarchal organization, heterosexual reproduction, and slavery and how it contributed to the construction of imperial power. At the same time, the book shows how these picturesque landscapes and sugar plantations contained within them the seeds of resistance how, for instance, slave gardens and the Afro-Caribbean practice of Vodou threatened authority and created new possibilities for once again transforming the landscape. In an ambitious work of wide-ranging literary, visual, and historical allusion, Jill H. Casid examines how landscaping functioned in an imperial mode that defined and remade the heartlands of nations as well as the contact zones and colonial peripheries in the West and East Indies. Revealing the colonial landscape as far more than an agricultural system as a means of regulating...
