Excerpt from A Defense of the Reconstruction Acts of Congress: And Critical Review of the Inaugural of H. H. Haight, Governor of California 1. In commencing the defense of the Congressional Reconstruction, and the critical review of Governor Haight's Inaugural Address, we deem it necessary to acquaint the reader with the motives which have impelled us to this undertaking, lest it may appear on our part an act of temerity. They are two-right and duty. 2. When the policy of one party is fiercely attacked by another, it is the undisputed right of every member of the former to defend it from the assaults of the latter; but, when that policy is approved by the majority of a nation, it is then the bounden duty of every loyal citizen and friend of the government to rally to its support. 3. The attack made upon a policy sanctioned by the majority of a commonwealth is a covert assault upon the fundamental principle of a Republican Government, that the majority must rule. If this principle be surrendered, the...
